Values for Education in The Salvation Army

We value The Salvation Army's Mission and the Mission of our School or Pre-School:

This means we respect and support our Christian mission, and are partners in providing quality care and education.

We value every child as a precious gift from God:

This means we place the highest priority on total development - body, mind and spirit - of each child in our care.

In our duties we value responsibility:

This means we are committed to diligence, the pursuit of excellence, innovation, collaboration and accountability.

In our relationships we value care and concern:

This means we show mutual understanding and respect, encouragement, trust, integrity, fairness, and open communication.
